

It is my understanding that large media companies such as Sinclair are allowed to use the airwaves free of charge. This provides them with a responsibility to the nation to provide fair and balanced opinions. Mandating the airing of a partisan program such as "Stolen Honor" is obviously a violation of this trust. It is the job of these corporations to provide America with information and entertainment, not swing elections in their favor.